Yootshoot Facts

Yukon Jacked was banned in 2001 after Randy Gomez drooled, spit & slobbered his way to the "Yoot Ass" Award

The following year, a former team "Golfers With Big Balls" took the "Yoot Ass" honors when they used a giant slingshot for one of their free "throws"...ah...brilliant!

YOOT SHOOT POST

On the tee since 1998: For the betterment of the game...if that's what you call it

Yoot Where?

Yoots displaying their goods

Ahhhh...with a little over a month to go until the 2005 Yoot Shoot, the Yoot fashion show hit the runways of New York which marked the release of the 2005 Yoot Wear! Past Yoot champions strutted the famous makers line of beautifully embroidered clothes past wide-eyed patrons leaving them gasping for more. The Yoot wear line has been posted on the Yoot Shoot website along with all information needed to process the order. Go here to see the yootwear ; <http://www.yootshoot.com/2005/2005yootwear.htm>

All orders MUST be placed by Sept. 16th if you want delivery at the event. Orders placed after Sept. 16th will have to be picked up at a later date. Payment can be made by credit card (via Paypal) or by check at the event. NO CASH payments will be accepted.

Last Call

As the days grow shorter, so does the chance for any additional players to join this year's event. Don't let the chance pass your friends and family by. If you have additional golfers that want to join us, do it now or tell them to stay home with their remote controls!

We received an application from perhaps the youngest player begging for his chance to play in the Yoot Shoot, but his dad wouldn't let him. James Caruso "Jr." born just a few short months ago, "will have to wait a few more years" said his beaming father Jimmy "Blackhole" Caruso. "It's probably better that he learns to hold something else before he takes a hold of the Yoot Cup" said his proud mom Traci. Yes, wise advice from mom as the cup would have to be pried from the hands of last years champs "The Beer Whores".
